Sommelier Notes

Each section of this wine list is created around the varietals. We do this to assist you in finding the best wine for you. We do not attempt to describe the flavors of each wine, but rather give you a reference point with which to orient yourself. Here, there are no rules, as we postulate that food and wine can inspire one and other. We believe that the "correct" pairing of a dish with a wine is in large measure, determined by the unique tastes of the individual guest.

We challenge ourselves to offer our guests the classics: Red and White Burgundy, Cabernets from California, German Rieslings; in addition the less expected: emerging Spanish regions, Pinot Noir from New Zealand, South American and Greek wines, as well as fascinating selections from less familiar producers and regions. With this in mind, we also look to support our local wineries who continue to impress on the World Stage. We encourage you to discover and enjoy them with us.

We do not shy away from suggesting which wines to try, but would rather suggest on a personal basis, with your specific preferences and curiosities in mind. To this end, we endeavour to highly train each server to offer advice. Of course, I will always make myself available if more detailed information is desired.

Wine, like food, involves the senses, the intellect, geography, history, chemistry and in some cases, the cosmos. Each wine has a story to tell.

One not only drinks wine, one smells it, observes it, tastes it, sips it, and one talks about it.
